

HOBBLE ON THE COBBLES (AYLESBURY) CELEBRATES 5TH ANNIVERSARY THIS SUMMER...

Summer 2010 is already shaping up to be another bumper year of live music excitement, entertainment and festivities in Aylesbury town centre, which includes the two-day Aylesbury Festival in July, and "Buckinghamshire's largest free all-day music festival", Hobble on the Cobbles at the end of August.

In recent years, HOTC has hosted bands including Scouting For Girls, FiSH, Marillion, Eddie & The Hot Rods, John Otway, The Original Sinners, and last year's local headliner's; Kajagoogoo.

Stuart Robb, Managing Director of local events company "Aylesbury Showcase" and organisers of HOTC explains "...we are extremely proud and very happy to announce that local band The Red Bullets will headline this very special 5th anniversary festival in Market Square, on Bank Holiday Sunday 29 August. The festival starts at 1pm, and runs through till 7pm, and is completely free.

We decided to ask The Red Bullets to headline, as they have performed brilliantly at many of our events over the past couple of years and because this is the 5th Anniversary of HOTC, we wanted to specifically give the headline to an up and coming unsigned band, and as The Red Bullets are one of the hardest working local bands around at the moment, they seemed like the obvious choice, and we were thrilled when they accepted our invitation".

The Red Bullets appeared on the local scene in late 2007 and have recently headlined both the Dart Music Festival and Salcombe Music Festival, The Stables (Wavendon), and The Barfly (Camden, London). The band have also had stints abroad playing in Dubai for the International Tennis Championships in 2008, and in the Alps, where they toured for two months in 2009. The Red Bullets are currently working on their debut album, which is scheduled for release early 2011. For more information visit: theredbullets.com
